

What does it mean to be a Judges Assistant:

As a judges assistant you are responsible for keeping track of boundary breaks and the length of a routine. You will have a penalty sheet and a stop watch to assist you.

If a team goes out of bounds, raise your hand until the team returns to the drill pad. Record each boundary break as a tally mark on the penalty sheet.

The time limits for each event are listed on the penalty sheet, if it is not listed then that event has no time limit. Time starts when the team enters the drill pad and ends at the completion of the report out sequence (after the drill team commander drops his salute).

After the completion of the event, show your penalty sheet to the head judge for the pad, he will add additional information and write his initials. Take this sheet and all other score sheets from the judges and bring them to the score recorder table, located adjacent to the podium.

If you have any questions ask the POC at the score recorder table.
